Course Description: This course is an introduction to technical explorations of dye application, fabric manipulation, and a three week field trip to Japan. The hands-on projects mainly involve resist dye techniques using professional materials and equipment. Integrating both Western and Eastern traditional techniques and aesthetics, students will develop their own ideas and skills. The on-site aspect of this course complements the in-class study. We will study various traditional and contemporary processes (Shibori and Katazome) before departure. Then we will understand these techniques at a deeper level through the experiences in Japan. The field trip introduces students to both traditional and contemporary Japanese culture in Tokyo, Kyoto, Hiroshima, and Miyajima. Students will visit historical sites, galleries, artists’ studios, markets, museums, and department stores. They will also participate in natural dyeing and visit a calligraphy workshop.

Course Requirements:
1. Assignments will require you to work outside of scheduled class time. There is class time scheduled for you to work on projects. You must work in class on those days. Refer to the supplemental handout for each project.
2. Research class projects to a deeper level using books, slides, catalogues, magazines, and the internet. It is important to explore actual sites, such as visiting fabric stores, libraries, galleries and museums. Try to find personal connections to the projects, then share those with other people. Keep a journal all the time.
3. You can use phones/computers for research, music (during the working time) and as a part of the artwork (technology). Checking cellphones during the critiques is absolutely not allowed.
4. Your participation in all aspects of this class is expected. You should use extra time to experiment for understanding new techniques, materials, tools and facilities. It is important to understand basic techniques in order to develop new ideas. Try to find uses for new materials and methods in your daily life.

Participation:
Lectures and project demonstrations will not be repeated for absent or tardy students. If you miss five class periods you will receive a grade of “Z” for non-attendance. Late projects will have a grade level deducted from them for each day they are late. If you are sick please call and leave a message. 2 unexcused absence may constitute one grade drop. Come fully prepared to the next class. Missing a critique is the equivalent of missing an exam. Traveling in a group will require cooperation, teamwork, and sensitivity to others. Therefore, students will be expected to be part of the class group more fully than in a normal class.

Student Expectations:
1. Be original; Create work that we have never seen before.
2. Think and work more than what you think I am asking for.
3. Get excited about what you are doing and make connections to your other experiences.
4. Try to know the historical background of each theme and respect traditional techniques; then, integrate your contemporary idea.
5. Develop your creativity towards art.
6. Challenge yourself technically and aesthetically.
7. Question yourself and any steps so that you understand why the process is necessary. Engage in wonder.
8. Ask questions when you don’t understand something. You will also be expected to ask for help as needed during the individual project class periods.
9. Enjoy the class with other people. Give comments & suggestions during the critiques.
10. Don’t be afraid of making mistakes. They may lead to successes.
11. Respect other people’s work and the facility, and keep working spaces clean.
12. You will need to take a workshop for sewing machine access in the lab. (Please stop using it when it is not working right and let Seiko know.)
